1. Job Descriptions

The Institute for Integrated Cell-Material Sciences (iCeMS) in Kyoto University is seeking a suitable candidate for the position of a Program-Specific Research Associate, as described below. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct research with Professor Aiko Fukazawa on development of novel pi-Electron systems based on the development of new reactions, and exploration of the functions of thus obtained materials. The candidate should have research experience in organic synthesis, sufficient communication skills and capability to conduct research activities in English. The candidate should also be able to conduct research independently under the policy of the PI, and at the same time, to cooperate with other researchers proactively. Experience on the development of novel organic reactions is desirable but not essential.

2. Application Procedure:

Candidates are requested to submit the documents listed below via e-mail, putting them in the same order as in the list into a single PDF file titled "Application for Program-Specific Research Associate."

Applications are acceptable in either Japanese or English.

- (1) Curriculum vitae including portrait, name, present address, contact info (e-mail address and phone number), birth date, education/professional experiences.
- (2) List of publications, and awards/honors
- (3) Printed publications for the representative works (up to 3)
- (4) Summary of research conducted up to present (in 1–2 pages of A4 or letter-formatted paper)
- (5) Outline of research intended by the candidate at iCeMS, when accepted (in 1 page of A4 or letter-formatted paper)
- (6) Names and e-mail addresses of 1 or 2 references
