

Dr Eiji Nawata

Dr Eiji Nawata is the former Dean of the Graduate School of Agriculture, Kyoto University and President of the Japanese Society of Tropical Agriculture. Dr Nawata's major field is tropical agriculture. He covers diverse fields related to agriculture and agricultural environment in the tropics, including ecophysiology of tropical crops, cropping system analysis, and crop evolution.