

July 12, 2022

To all students,

Classes in the Second Semester of AY 2022

Classes at Kyoto University in the second semester of AY 2022 will, in principle, be conducted in person while taking all possible measures to prevent the spread of the novel coronavirus. For international students who have not yet arrived in Japan and students who are unable to attend classes on campus due to preexisting medical conditions or for other reasons, the university will arrange alternative options, such as the provision of classes online. Classrooms will be ventilated by frequently opening windows and doors, so please wear warm clothes. Please note that the lunch break will be extended by 15 minutes as it was in the first semester.

The above policy may change depending on future developments of the COVID-19 situation. Please be sure to regularly confirm the latest information provided on KULASIS, the website of the Institute for Liberal Arts and Sciences (ILAS), and by your faculty or department, etc.

All students are requested to take all possible measures to prevent yourself and others from being infected with the virus.

Takao Hirajima
Executive Vice-President for Education