

Japanese Language Education

The Education Center for Japanese Language and Culture of the Institute for Liberal Arts and Sciences (ILAS) of Kyoto University offers the following types of classes: Japanese language classes in the Liberal Arts and Sciences curriculum (hereinafter referred to as [1]), and Japanese language support classes not included in the regular curriculum (referred to as [2]). Eligible students to take [1] are: degree-seeking international students, Japanese Government (Monbukagakusho [MEXT]) Scholarship Students, exchange students except General Exchange Special Research Students (GESRs), research students who are permitted to attend Japanese classes of [1] by their academic advisor and Kyoto iUP Students. [2] that all international students and researchers at Kyoto University can take covers the levels from introductory to advanced course including Business Japanese Course. Japanese language classes take place from April to August in the first (Spring) semester and from October to February in the second (Fall) semester. Class registration opens twice a year in March and September. In order to take Japanese language classes, go through the required registration procedure on the website below. The class syllabi are also available on the same website.

Tutor System

'Tutoring' system is a system that the designated tutor provides support to international students whenever their supervisor deems it necessary. In general, the system is applicable to undergraduate students during their first two years in Japan, and graduate students and certain research students during their first year. Tutors are generally graduate students selected from the graduate school to which the international student belongs. Whether the advice/assistance given by the tutors will focus on research or daily life will depend on the individual needs of the international student. It is recommended, therefore, that students relay their concerns to their academic supervisor to receive the accurate support. Further details are available at the faculty/graduate school offices where the international student belongs.

On-Campus Advising Services for International Students

There are several advisory services for international students currently attending Kyoto University. The services are confidential and free of charge. International students can seek advisory service regarding problems and worries they cannot handle by themselves such as various matters about their life in Japan, international issues, or university-related procedures, etc., from advisors at the student lounge "KI-ZU-NA". In addition, students can receive counseling from clinical psychologist or medical doctors at the International Student Advising Room.

Kyoto University Student Lounge “KI-ZU-NA”

Student Lounge 'KI-ZU-NA', meaning "bonds" in Japanese, opened in the spring of 2002 as a place for students to create bonds of friendship across borders. 'KI-ZU-NA' now welcomes all members of the community -- including staff, faculty, and researchers, as well as students -- to spend time together and join or organize cross-cultural activities. The facility features a Reading Room, stocked with language learning materials, and a Salon, available for studying, language exchange, and other activities. 'KI-ZU-NA' hosts its own event every month, offering opportunities for participants to experience Japanese culture and get to know their counterparts from other countries.
