

New Application Process for Private Scholarships

applied for via Kyoto University (for scholarships commencing in April 2019)*

*Recruitment will commence from May 2018.

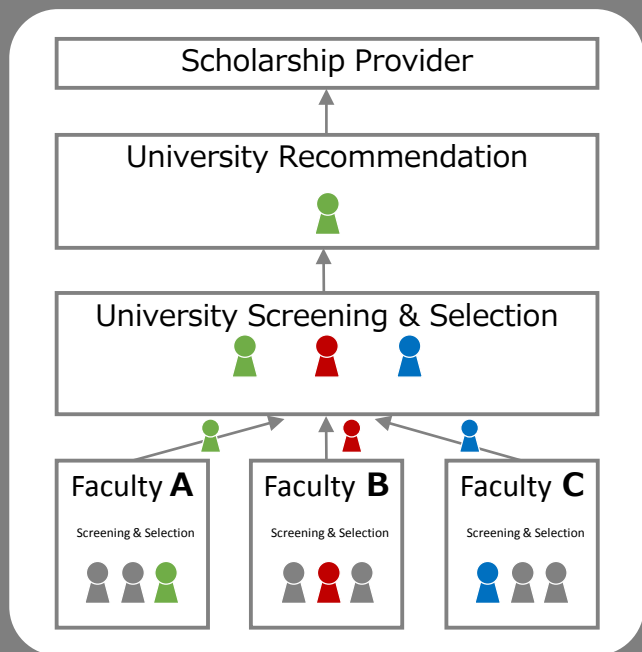

*The scholarship allocations for each faculty/graduate school are determined based on its number of international students.

- ☺ Students can apply for the scholarship programs of their choice.
- ☹ Due to the large number of applicants within in the university, it is difficult to pass the screening process and be recommended.
- ☺ Students are recommended to the scholarship providers without a university-wide screening process.
- ☹ The scholarships for which students can apply are limited to those allocated to their faculty/graduate school of affiliation.

Note: Students are free to apply for scholarships which accept direct applications and those without limits on the number of applicants that can be recommended.

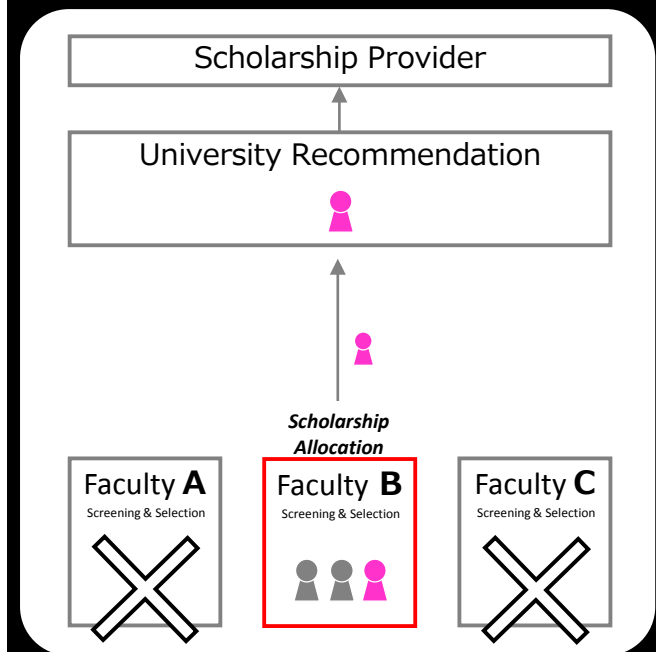

CURRENT

NOTE:

Private scholarships for which the payment period commences in the 2018 academic year (Apr. 2018–Mar. 2019) will still follow the current procedure.

NEW

NOTE:

Students can only apply for scholarship programs that have been allocated to their faculty/graduate school of affiliation.
